Thailand Hotel Training Room Furniture Project | Linray

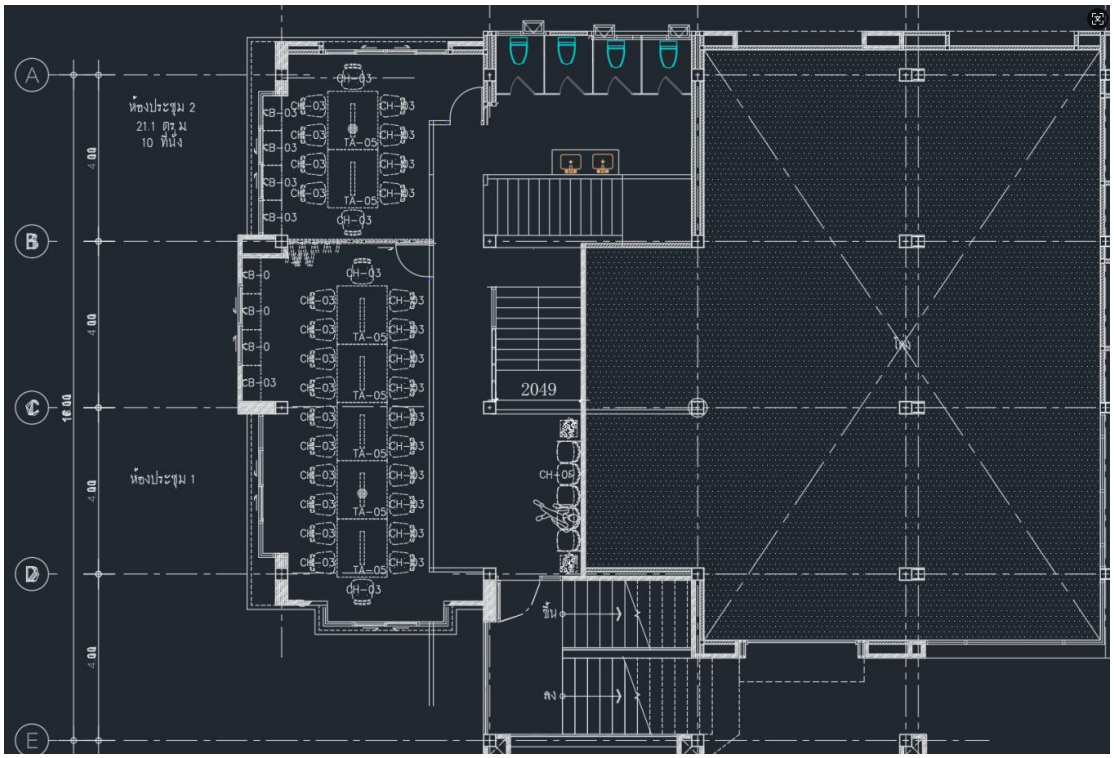

Linray provided a complete training room furniture solution for a hotel in Thailand. The client's requirements included supporting high-frequency employee training and various business scenarios, such as group meetings and annual performances. This training room project maximized seating capacity, helping the client improve comfort during long working hours. The hotel also required a clean and minimalist work environment.

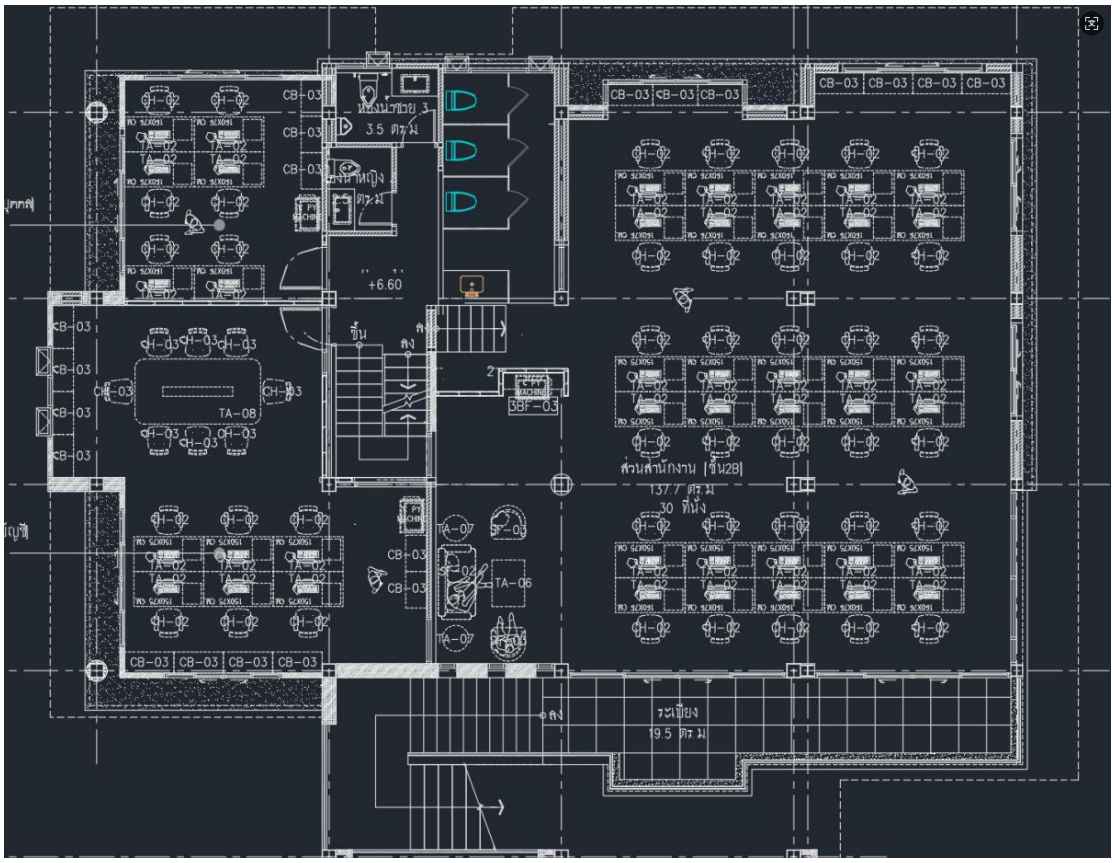

The client's requirements are as follows:

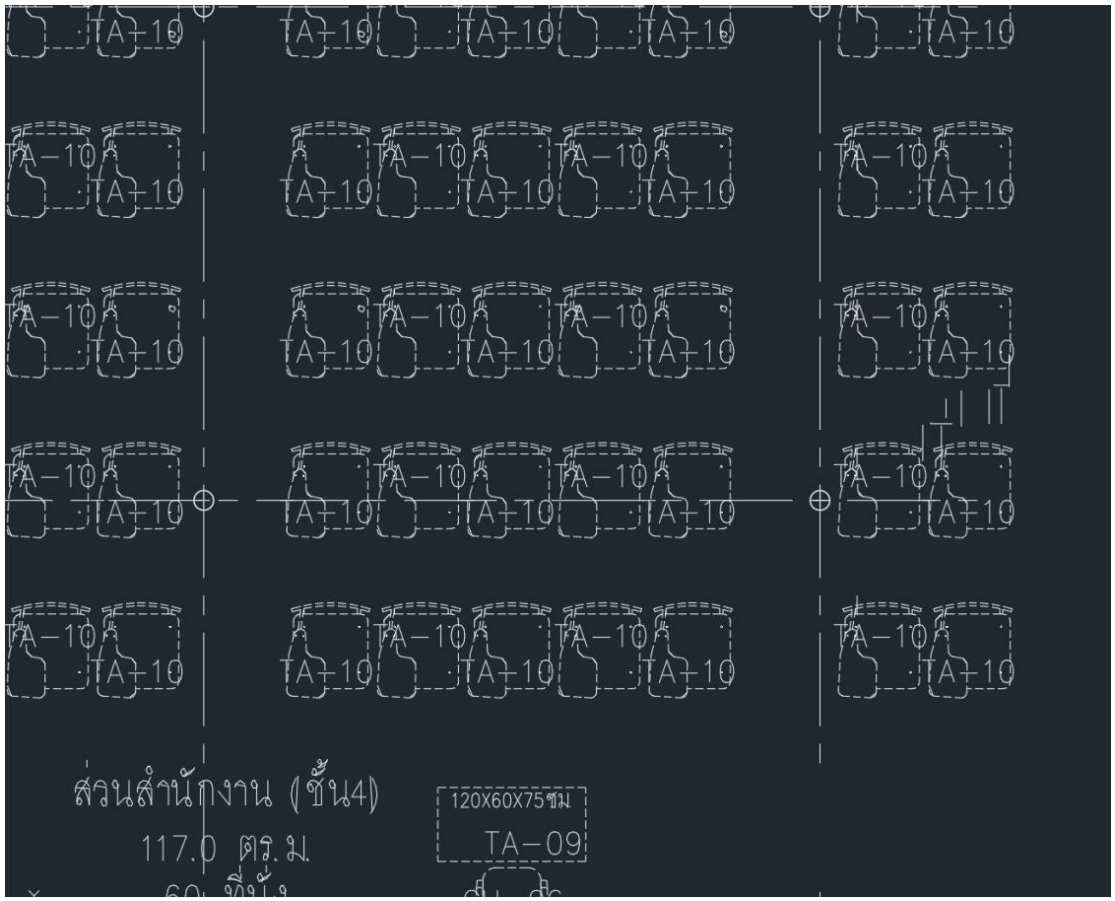

- High-density seating layout
- Long-duration seating comfort
- Flexible usage for training and meetings
- Durable furniture for daily commercial use
- Consistent and professional visual presentation

How does Linray's solution meet the client's needs? First, in terms of conference chair layout planning, we greatly optimized the seating arrangement based on the design drawings (as shown below), ensuring smooth and unobstructed passage in the aisles, and achieving good results in terms of visibility, so that the view is not blocked during training, ensuring smooth movement within the space.

Furthermore, we selected the best-reputed, simple, and convenient breathable mesh conference chairs, equipped with ergonomically designed back support to reduce fatigue during long training sessions.

We also arranged compact training tables to ensure the venue doesn't feel cramped, maximizing space utilization and making trainees feel very comfortable. Throughout the training room, Linray ensures each participant has ample workspace.

All Linray furniture is constructed with reinforced and durable structures, ideal for the high-intensity daily use in a hotel environment.

Below are the spatial renderings of each training room:

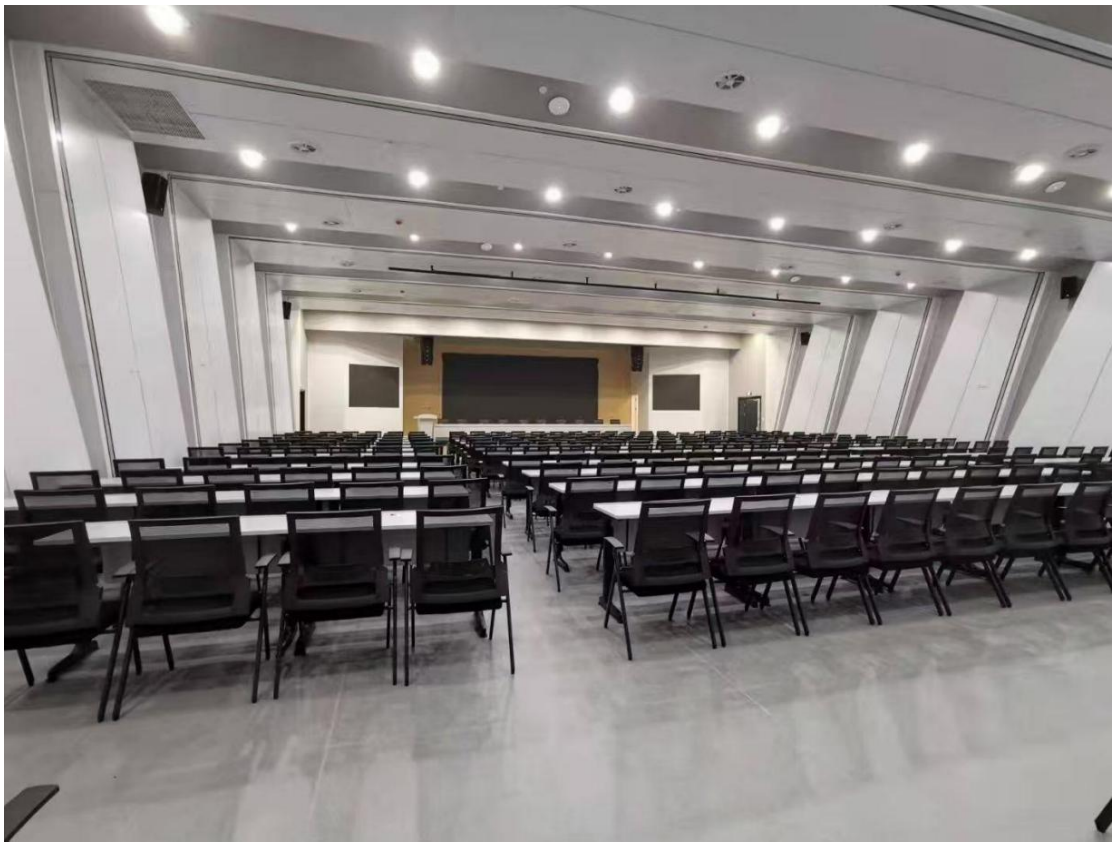

Training Room

This space is designed for large group learning, featuring a structured desk layout and ergonomic chairs to help students concentrate and improve efficiency.

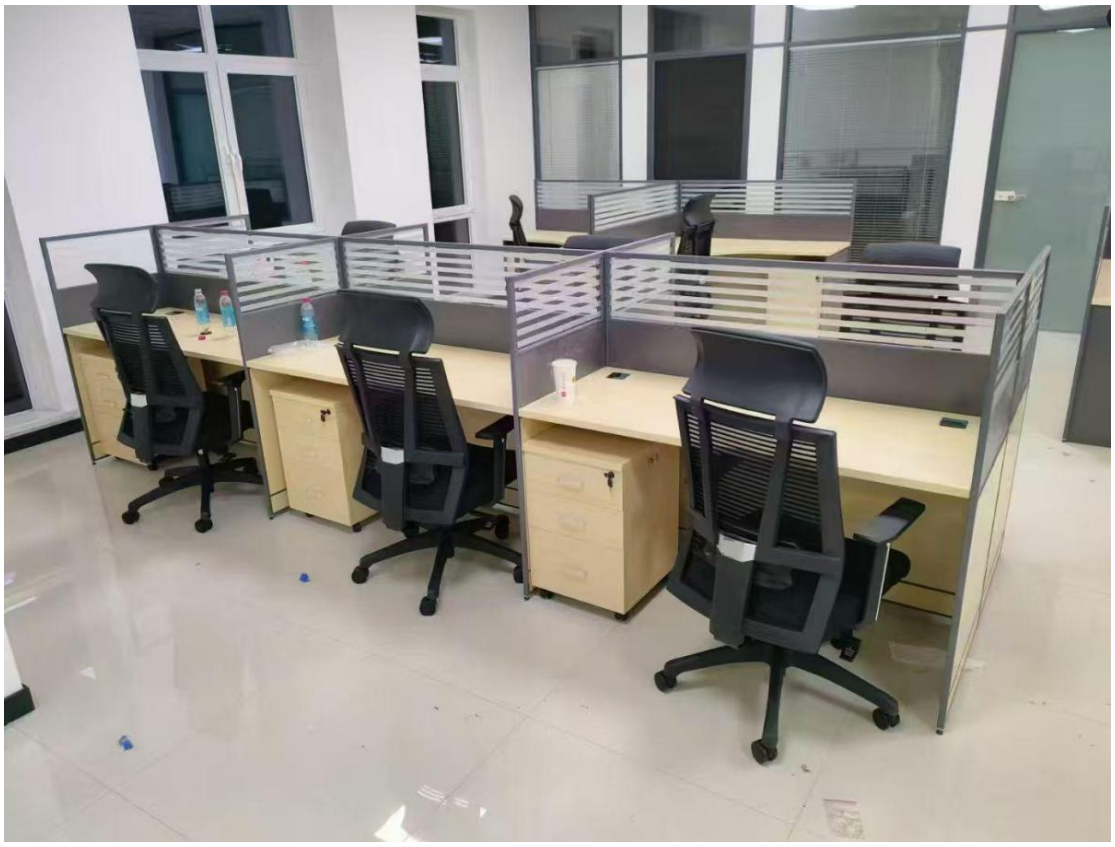

Meeting Area

Equipped with a conference table and comfortable chairs, it is suitable for discussions, presentations, and internal meetings.

Office Work Area

Other office areas are equipped with practical desks and ergonomic chairs to support daily administrative work.

Linray's training room project featured ergonomically designed mesh chairs with highly breathable backrests, preventing stuffiness and sweating even when your back is pressed against the chair. The mesh chairs also boast a sturdy metal and reinforced frame structure. In the venue, we enhanced the space-saving training table configuration, which is easy to maintain and has a long service life. Linray met the client's needs for high-frequency use throughout the training room project.

Linray's project achievements:

Increased seating capacity without overcrowding
Enhanced comfort during long training sessions
Improved space utilization and workflow
Simple, modern, and professional visual appeal
Reduced maintenance costs over time.
